HANGED HIMSELF

To Tree While Enroute For Wedding Suit.

Strange Action of a Young Man on Morning of His Wedding Day.

Morganfield, Ky., Jan. 8.—Timothy McCarty a young farmer about 22 years of age, was found hanging to a tree at the roadside early this morning about four miles above Uniontown. McCarty lived in the "Coon Flats," and about 4 o'clock this morning started to Uniontown to get his wedding suit, as he had intended marrying a Miss Sizemore this afternoon. From Uniontown he was to come to this city to get the necessary license.

An uncle of the young man says he had $100 in his pocket when he started from home, but when his body was found there were only three or four dollars in his pockets. It was first reported that McCarty had been murdered and robbed, and then swung to a limb to make it look as if he had committed suicide. Word was sent here and the officers left immediately with bloodhounds, but the services of the dogs were not needed as an examination showed that McCarty had committed suicide instead of having been murdered. He had started to town on a mule, and it was with the rope bridle that he hanged himself.

While all the evidence available points to suicide there is a deep mystery surrounding the tragedy. McCarty, it is said, had no bad habits, and it therefore seems strange that he would take his life on the morning of his wedding day. This missing money also adds to the mystery surrounding the case. McCarty expected to go to Louisville immediately after his marriage to work in a railroad shop there.

HELD TO ANSWER.

Colored Boys Charged With Robbery Committed Near Bell.

Taylor Woodson, col., living near Bell, was robbed of $28 Tuesday. He suspected Jim Tucker and Chester Parrish, two colored boys who had been working in the neighborhood, and the police here were notified to keep a lookout for them. Officer Walker went out as far as Trenton on the train Wednesday morning and two colored youths got on at Pembroke, who answered the description partly of the boys wanted. The officers at Guthrie were notified to watch for them, however, and a fuller description was telephoned from Bell. They were then taken into custody at Guthrie and Chief Matthews and officer Walker went down and brought the prisoners to this city Wednesday night. Their examining trial was held before the County Judge yesterday and they were held over to Circuit Court. Being unable to give bond they were sent back to jail.

The money was taken out of a trunk which was first broken open.

CALLED CORONER.

Man Killed Accidentally by Discharge of Gun.

Late Wednesday evening a telephone message came from the neighborhood of Fairview, calling the county Coroner to hold an inquest over the body of a colored man, who had killed himself accidentally with a gun. No further particulars of the affair could be learned. Coroner Allensworth went out yesterday morning, but had not returned when we went to press.

Inspectors Re-Elected.

Messrs. W. F. Buckner, A. F. Smith, T. L. Porter and Dr. Crouch were re-elected tobacco inspectors for the ensuing year by the Clarksville Tobacco Board of Trade last Monday.

FREE DELIVERY

For Portion of Christian Lying South of City.

Service Will Begin As Soon as Mail Boxes Can be Put Up.

Christian county, or at least a portion of it, will certainly have free rural delivery within the next few days. Government Inspector J. S. Rathbone, of Washington, D. C., was here Tuesday and went over the proposed route for free rural delivery in a portion of Southeast Christian. The length of the route is 26 miles, and figuring on a basis of five for each head of a family, a population of about 900 will be served. The free delivery route starts from Hopkinsville and extends down the Nashville pike to the Bradshaw pike; then down that pike to R. H. Kelly's farm; from the latter it runs back to the Bolivar road, thence to Bolivar, and up the Clarksville and Hopkinsville pike back to the city.

The contract for carrying the mail has been let to Mr. Elbridge Bradshaw at $400 per annum. This is the amount allowed by the Government for the work and it is probable that an additional sum will be provided for the carrier. The system will be put in operation as soon as the mail boxes will be used on the rural route arrive. As the order was sent in to Washington City the first of the week it is likely that they will reach this city and be put up some time next week.

BUGGIES CLASH.

Both Vehicles Torn up But Occupants Not Injured.

A runaway collision that came near resulting fatally to Jack Wolfe, a young man residing near the city, created quite a sensation on Main street about seven o'clock Wednesday evening. A buggy and pair of horses from Hammond's Livery Stable at Gracey, managed to get loose from a negro left to hold them in front of a store on West Seventh street, and coming down Main at a terrible speed, came in contact with a buggy driven by Mr. Wolfe, who had turned into Main from East Ninth street at the National Bank corner. The runaway team came up behind Wolfe before he could get out of the way, and overturned his buggy, the pole striking it, while the horses were pulled around it. Wolfe's horse had gotten loose and he was thrown out in front of his buggy, where he would have been tramped to death by the Hammond team, had not the harness broken and let them loose. It was a narrow escape, but no one was hurt, though both buggies were badly torn up.

The examining trial of Robert Morris, who shot and killed Marion Henderson, near Bluff Springs, Christmas eve, set for a hearing before Judge Cansler, Wednesday, was postponed until Tuesday, Jan. 22. The case was continued on motion of the attorneys for the defense, on account of the absence of material witnesses. Morris' plea will be self defense. He has retained Yonts & Hazlip and Mr. C. H. Bush as counsel. A large number of people from the section of country in which the killing occurred were on hand Wednesday.

The wife of Mr. Henry Marcus, of Cerulean, died in Chicago Tuesday. She has children living in Chicago and went to that city a week ago to have a surgical operation performed. It was not learned whether she died from the effects of the operation or whether she succumbed as a result of her illness, which was of long duration. The remains arrived here this morning and will be buried in Hopewell. Mrs. Marcus was a daughter of the late Irvin Boyd and a sister of Mr. "Dock" Boyd, of Sinking Fork.

WAGON BED

Fell Upon Child Causing Copious Hemorrhage of Ear.

Frank, the 6-year-old son of Mr. John McGee, of near Julien, was painfully injured Tuesday afternoon. The little fellow was standing under a wagon bed when it slipped and fell upon him, pinning him to the ground. When rescued it was found that one side of his head had been badly bruised and a copious hemorrhage from the ear resulted, a small blood vessel having been cut. Dr. W. D. Brown rendered the necessary surgical aid and the child is now able to be out.

SOFTENING OF BRAIN

Mr. Joseph E. Hatcher, a wealthy and influential citizen of Todd county, died at his home a few miles west of Trenton, Tuesday night. He had been in bad health for three years. Death was caused from softening of the brain. He was a brother-in-law of Mrs. M. G. Rust of this city, and was 65 years old. He was a member of the Baptist church, an ex-Confederate soldier and one of the largest land owners of Todd county. Rev. John C. Rust, of Nashville, preached the funeral Wednesday afternoon.

Little Hope Of Recovery.

Mr. Jesse Giles was yesterday reported dangerously ill of pneumonia at his home near Howell and his recovery is regarded as extremely doubtful.

Time is Life

The father? Gone for the doctor? The mother? Alone with her suffering child. Will the doctor ever come? When there's a croup in the house you can't get the doctor quick enough. It's too dangerous to wait. Don't make such a mistake again; it may cost a life. Always keep on hand a dollar bottle of

Wyer's Croup Pectoral

It cures the croup at once. For bronchitis, whooping-cough, hoarseness, asthma, pleurisy, weak lungs, loss of voice, and all other ailments, there is no remedy its equal. The 50c. bottle will cure a miserable croup; the 50c. size is better for cold that has been hanging on. But the dollar bottle is more economical in the long run.

WOODMEN OF WORLD.

Social Entertainment This Week An Elaborate Affair.

The social entertainment given by the Woodmen of the World and the Woodmen Circle Tuesday night was a very elaborate affair and was highly enjoyed by every one present on the delightful occasion. There were more than two hundred members of the order and their friends present and the room in the Ragsdale, Cooper & Co. building, in which the entertainment was given, was tastefully decorated with flowers and potted plants. There were appropriate addresses by Messrs. John C. Duffy, W. T. Fowler and John Feland and instrumental solos rendered by Misses Florence Elgin and Ruby Ward and Mr. F. Falenstein.

Ward's orchestra also furnished excellent music on the occasion. A sumptuous repast, consisting of oysters, turkey, ham and other meats, and cake, etc., was greatly enjoyed by the large gathering. Mr. R. E. West was master of ceremonies and filled the bill like "an aged stager."

TREAT IN STORE.

City Never Visited By Man Of Rarer Qualities.

A treat is in store for all who hear Dr. Homer T. Wilson's lecture, "Sparks From the Anvil," at the Opera House next Wednesday evening, Jan. 16. Hopkinsville has never been visited by a man of rarer qualities than Mr. Wilson. As an exchange says: "He combines the language of Graves, the wit and humor of Burdette, the gracefulness of Booth, and the eloquence of Grady." The Platte county (Mo.) Argus, in a recent issue, says:

"In the evening Mr. Wilson delivered his famous lecture in such a perfectly artistic, cultured and dramatic manner as only a Beecher and a select few of his age could have been fortunate in seeing and hearing all those who have been acknowledged as the 'truly great' for the last forty years, and must accord Mr. Wilson a culture of platform orators. A perfectly modulated, mellow and rich voice; face and eyes as expressive as Jefferson's, Beecher's, or Mary Anderson's; a classic pose, and an elocutionist of the real and proper school."

In late years men have made for times out of the tailings of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted to a fortune. The stomach is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutrient contained in the food. That loss when continuous means the loss of man's greatest fortune—health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and puts the stomach and organs of digestion into a condition of health which enables them to assimilate all the nutrient contained in the food which is eaten. In all cases of constipation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will speedily and permanently cure the disease.

LIKES TO TRAMP.

Has Nomadic Habit and Left Home Five Times.

Henry Kline, aged 16 years of Nashville, spent Monday night at police headquarters. He told a story of having been kidnapped at Nashville, and brought to this city on a boxcar on the L. & N. road. He claims that he was liberated by a trainman who heard him kicking against the door of the car, and he reported at police headquarters. There seems to be little truth in the story told by the lad. Mrs. Kline, the mother of the boy, says he has the nomadic habit and this is the fifth time he has tried to see more of the country. Monday, he started to a store, and the next heard from him was a telephone message from Chief Matthews stating that he was under arrest.

The Nashville American says: "Kline's mother states that she overheard him talking to a younger brother Sunday of the gentlemanly qualities of a hobo they had met. He started to his work as usual Monday morning, and the first intimation received at his home was Monday night, when his mother, was telephoned by the police at Hopkinsville that he was in their custody. She was much surprised at the story that he related. The boy has an older brother in Chicago, who had promised, but failed to send for him, and Mrs. Kline thinks that he was probably going to that city and became hungry at Hopkinsville and made an alarm." Kline is a son of an L. & N. flagman on this division. The boy was sent home Tuesday evening.

MCCORMICK WINS AT PARIS.

The McCormick Harvesting Machine Company, of Chicago, has been awarded the Grand Prize on Harvesting Machines at the Paris Exposition. This is the highest award.

The McCormick Company also received the highest award, a gold medal, on binder twine, for the superior quality of its product. Special twine machinery from the celebrated McCormick twine mill was exhibited to the jury and awarded a medal.

The McCormicks have received the largest number of awards, as well as the highest awards made to any American exhibitor. In addition to the Grand Prize on machines and Gold Medal on twine they have received two medals in the department of metallurgy for superiority in forming metals into special parts for machines; in the department of machinery a medal for factory machinery, and also silver and bronze medals in other classes, six medals in all, besides the Grand Prize.

The international juries of the Exposition have recognized the great revolution wrought by McCormick machines and this large number of awards is a great triumph for America.

In addition to winning these awards, the Gold Medal and 200 francs, the single highest award for binders was won easily by the McCormick Binder at the field trial at Coulmiers on July 19, against all comers. This is the greatest and most important trial held in France during the Exposition year.

THOMPSON-HOWE.

Bride Formerly Lived Here and Groom of Atlanta.

Miss Jessie Fay Howe, of Nashville, daughter of Mr. Jas. M. Howe, formerly of this city, and Mr. Thomas C. Thompson, of Atlanta, Ga., were married Wednesday night. The American of yesterday gave the following account of the happy event:

"A midwinter wedding, characterized by unusual brilliancy, was that of Miss Jessie Fay Howe to Thomas Clarke Thompson, of Atlanta, solemnized last night at Vine-street Christian church at 6:30 o'clock. The church was elaborately decorated with palms and festoons of smilax. The organ was presided over by Miss Augusta Jonnard, who rendered a musical programme before the coming of the bridal party and announced its entrance with the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March. The six ushers, Messrs. Bertram Howe, John Howe, Samuel E. Clark, Louis Fuqua, Spert Hendrix and Harry Anderson, entered the church on opposite aisles. They were followed on one side by the groom and his best man, Walter Emerson Howe, and on the other by the matron of honor, Mrs. Samuel G. Steiner, and the little flower girl, Miss Mary Howe, strewing flowers in the pathway of the bride, who entered with her father, James M. Howe, and was given away by him. The marriage service was impressively said by Rev. W. E. Ellis, while the soft strains of "Call Me Thine Own" floated through the church. The bridal chorus from Lohengrin was used as a recessional.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white mousselin de sole, finished with real lace and made with a yoke jeweled with seed pearls. A bridal veil was fastened with a cluster of white flowers. The bridal bouquet was a chataelaine of bride roses and hyacinths.

The matron of honor was gowned in pale pink organdie over pink silk, trimmed in pink ribbon. The little flower girl wore a dainty gown of white organdie.

After the ceremony the bridal party went to the residence of the bride's parents, on Vine street, for the cutting of the bridal cake, and at 9 o'clock the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to St. Louis and through the South, before going to the groom's home in Atlanta.

The bride's going away gown was a dark blue tailor-made cloth, with a small panne velvet hat.

Among the guests present from a distance were the groom's father, A. P. Thompson, of Atlanta, and Mrs. R. W. Greene, of Kentucky.

FAUSTS.

A Very Fine Attraction Booked For Jan. 18.

One of the strongest attractions of the season is Porter J. White's production "Faust," which will be presented at Holland's Opera House on the evening of Jan. 18. A recent issue of the Toledo Bee says of the attraction:

Porter J. White, a former understudy of Morrison, opened an engagement yesterday afternoon at the People's in the production of Goethe's beautiful story of "Faust." Mr. White, in the role of Mephisto, is unquestionably the peer of Owen and others of Mr. Morrison's understudies who have appeared before Toledo audiences—in fact one could scarcely close his eyes to the striking fac simile of Mr. White's stage mannerism and that of the original Mephisto. Mr. White's conception of the character so difficult of production is really well-nigh faultless. His voice is admirably adapted to the part, and his enunciation and facial expression are beyond adverse criticism. Mr. White's support is good. Miss Olga Verne, in the character of Marguerite, presents a most charming picture of innocent peace and life. The mechanical effects are practically the same as have been produced here by Morrison and Faithful. They are very striking.

A RARE VOLUME.

Only Two Others Like It Thought Now to Be in Existence.

A Milwaukee collector of books that bear on Wisconsin history recently picked up in New Jersey one of the rarest publications of territorial days. Its title is "Notes on the Wisconsin Territory: Particularly with Reference to the Iowa District, or Black Hawk Purchase," by Lieut. Albert M. Lea, U. S. Dragoons. So few are the copies extant of this little book that a writer in a historical magazine not long ago claimed that there were not to exceed three copies in existence.

Lieut. Albert Lea was a West Point graduate who performed frontier duty in 1836, the year when Wisconsin territory was organized by detaching what is now Iowa and part of Minnesota. The book mentioned is descriptive of a few towns then located in the district, and of the soil and climate. It was printed in Philadelphia the same year by H. S. Tanner, Shakespeare building.

"Three advance copies were mailed to him," said the writer above referred to, "and the rest of the edition was shipped to him at his western home. The steambot which conveyed the books was wrecked and sunk in the Ohio river, not another copy being saved. It was never reprinted, and the three copies mentioned are all that are in existence. One is in the Tarrin Masonic library at Cedar Rapids, one in the State library at St. Paul, and the third is owned in Faribault, Minn. The author was a Tennesseean and joined the confederate army. He died in Cicascia, Tex., three or four years ago. He was well known in Iowa during territorial days, and a lake in Minnesota bears his name."

The copy secured by the Milwaukee collection is probably the third copy privately owned formerly in Minnesota.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

ENGLAND'S FUTURE KING.

The Prince of Wales as He Is Known To-Day.

Those who know him well do not hesitate to assert that he has been harshly judged by the majority of the public, says Success of the prince of Wales. They say that, although he may have been wild in his youth, it is years since he has been the hero of any such escapades, as gained him notoriety of an unpleasant sort in the sixties. He is now a dignified man, who appreciates the responsibilities of his position. His kindness to children is proverbial, and everyone knows how fond he is of all animals. He is also kind to his servants, and to all dependent upon him in any way. If he is interested in horse racing, he is also interested in the development of British art and music, and lends his support to every effort toward their advancement.

Above all else, the prince of Wales has an influence that is far-reaching, and of great importance to the British government. He is a favorite to every court in Europe, and has a list of acquaintances extending round the world. In the event of international complications, everyone in the foreign office knows that the prince of Wales would have much influence in the settlement of the difficulty.

TO JAIL FOR SNEEZING.

Convict Explains How He Happened to Be Sentenced.

Visitors to jails frequently remark on the number of innocent inmates—that is, if you believe their own stories. Every convict has at least some excuse to offer which is at variance with the court records, and one of the most amusing was made not long ago in a Pennsylvania prison.

"What brought you here?" asked the visitor.

"A sneeze," replied the convict, who was a professional burglar.

"A sneeze!" repeated the amazed visitor.

"Yes, I pursued my calling unmolested until one night while I was in the act of robbing a house I was unfortunately overcome by an impulse to sneeze. That woke the policeman who brought me here."

The visitor passed on to the next cell.—Golden Days.

Chinese Coins.

The best collection of Chinese coins to be found outside of China has been given to the archaeological museum of the University of Pennsylvania by Rev. E. W. Tving, a Honolulu missionary. The collection goes back to a time over 2,500 years ago and includes those odd early Chinese coins which were made in the form of spades, razors, keys, shirts and tools.

HAS NATURE WARNED YOU?

Nature herself clued in the early years a young physician from Cleveland, Ohio, warning the descendant of a long line of doctors, "I have you! Have you that tired shabby feeling, the nervousness and loss of sleep? If so, you must not pass this warning, as it is an indication of a weak body. I will give you our advice, come to our office, Dr. Caldwell's German Liver Pills. Take one a day at bedtime for a week. It will follow by procuring a bottle of Yucca Oil. This oil is the best for the liver. It is the best of these two great remedies, you will feel like a new man in the spring. Prepare yourself for the malaria or hot season, when the atmosphere is full of germs. It is necessary and when your system warns you, you must take it. These Remedies are sold by."

Reconsidered.

A Topeka man lost a small opal set out of his ring and went to the jeweler to have it replaced. Returning home he found the lost set and, putting it in his mouth for safe keeping, hurried back to the jeweler's to have that set used instead of the new opal. Rushing into the store he said: "Say, I've found the old set, so don't put that new one on. He attempted to remove the stone from his mouth, gave a gulp, looked sheepish, and said, "I guess you'll have to use the new stone."

That man needed a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Sold by C. K. Wyly.

As the boy was being led to the woodshed he was much moved by the loud lamentations of his father. "FATHER," he said, with a quivering voice, "this is going to hurt me more than it is going to hurt you." Of course, this was not true. It was one of those noble lies which love prompts mankind to tell.—Detroit Journal.

CURIOUS WEATHER VANES.

All Sorts of Things Set Up to Show Wind's Direction.

"The figure of a cock which moves with the wind above a ball or globe is a species of vane often seen in France—the idea to be conveyed, especially to the minds of Britishers, no doubt being that the Gallic cock doth overcome the world, no matter how the winds may shift and veer. Crowing and blowing are somewhat closely allied; they are other words for advertisement, and vane has been made to act as advertising media often enough. Thus," says Robert Macbray, writing in Cassell's Magazine about "Quaint and Comic Vans," "I have seen the effigy of a cow above a dairy of a horse above a stable, of a fox with a hound at his heels over a hunting lodge. I fancy that some of the older 'pubs,' especially in the country districts, might show some very quaint vans representing the names of the houses. So, for example, might the 'Pig and Whistle' have had the figure of a pig as a vane, with the pig made hollow in order that the wind might whistle through it. At no date, swine vane must at one time have been quite common, for there used to be a saying that So-and-so was 'crowing up his nose like a pig in the wind.' There is, at least, one kind of vane which is modern, and that is the vane sometimes seen attached to the 'bonnet' or 'hood' or 'cow' of a chimney pot. It is generally of the simplest character—such as an arrow or a pennon, and if not ornamental is certainly useful."

WANTED TO BE REALISTIC.

The Girl Refused and He Secured a Scene for His Novel.

She could not see his face as he knelt and asked her to be his. She was glad of that, for she did not wish to know how much suffering her refusal caused him.

She told him as gently as she could that their lives could not be linked together; that, although she admired him and esteemed him, she felt that it would be risking his future as well as her own to consent to a union where she was sure no affinity existed. It was a touching speech, and she threw so much heart into it that she did not observe that he was taking notes in shorthand. When she had concluded he arose and put his notebook in his pocket. Finding his hand, he remarked, genially: "I'm ever so much obliged to you."

"S-S-I-r-r-r!"

"You did it ever so nicely, and I'm under a thousand obligations. I'm writing a novel, and I have a scene in which a girl refuses to marry a man. I was anxious to avoid the stereotyped type of depicting such incidents and make it realistic. You're the seventh girl I have proposed to, and every one of the others accepted me. If you had said 'Yes,' I think I'd have been completely discouraged."—London Tit-Bits.

STANDING ROOM

May be at a Premium at Opera House.

The Great Barlow and Wilson's Minstrels will hold the boards at Holland's Opera House next Tuesday evening and it goes without the saying that they will have a good house. The company is better this year than ever before, the performance abounding in new features, and they fully sustain the claim of being the best minstrel aggregation on the road today. Of a recent performance in Cincinnati, the Enquirer says:

"There are a gathering of minstrel lovers that packed the Opera House to the doors last night, that assembled to pay court to Barlow and Wilson's Minstrels, as they appeared on their annual engagement. The performance consisted entirely of modern minstrel attractions. The people went to witness the fin de siècle minstrels of the season, and found them leaders by several lengths, for everything went fast enough to keep the most lively on the qui vive. The performance abounds in new features, which kept the audience in a continual state of hilarity, the hit of the evening being made by 'the Great Barlow and Wilson.' The vocal numbers are gems of the first water. The company is far superior to the usual standard attraction."
